1. Introduction of the Event

An Industry expert lecture was organized by Department of Languages on "The Importance of Self Assessments through Digital Tools for English Proficiency". The purpose of this industry lecture was to make students aware about the mechanism of assessment and digital pedagogy. The session was focused for professional assessment tools which would deal with future evaluation in English Domain.

2. Objective of the Event

- ➢ To train students about the Digital Tools
- ➢ Practical exposure of professional tools for enhancement of communication skills in English.

3. Beneficiaries of the Event

- ➢ Students

4. Details of the Guests
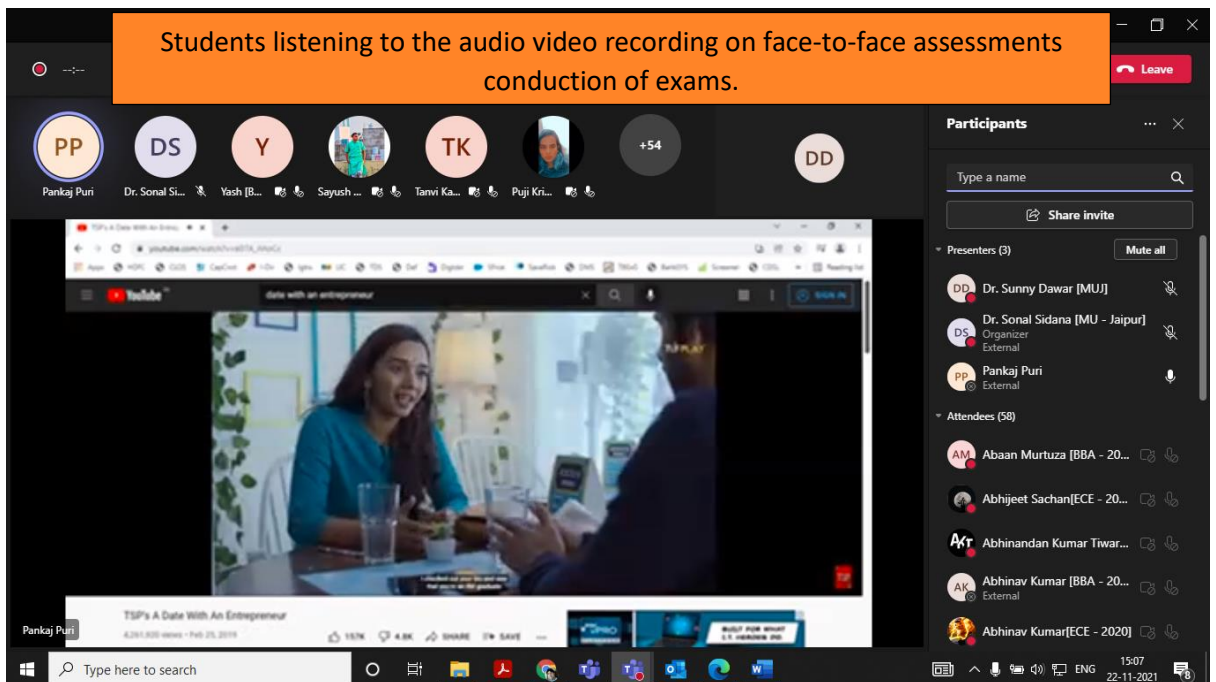

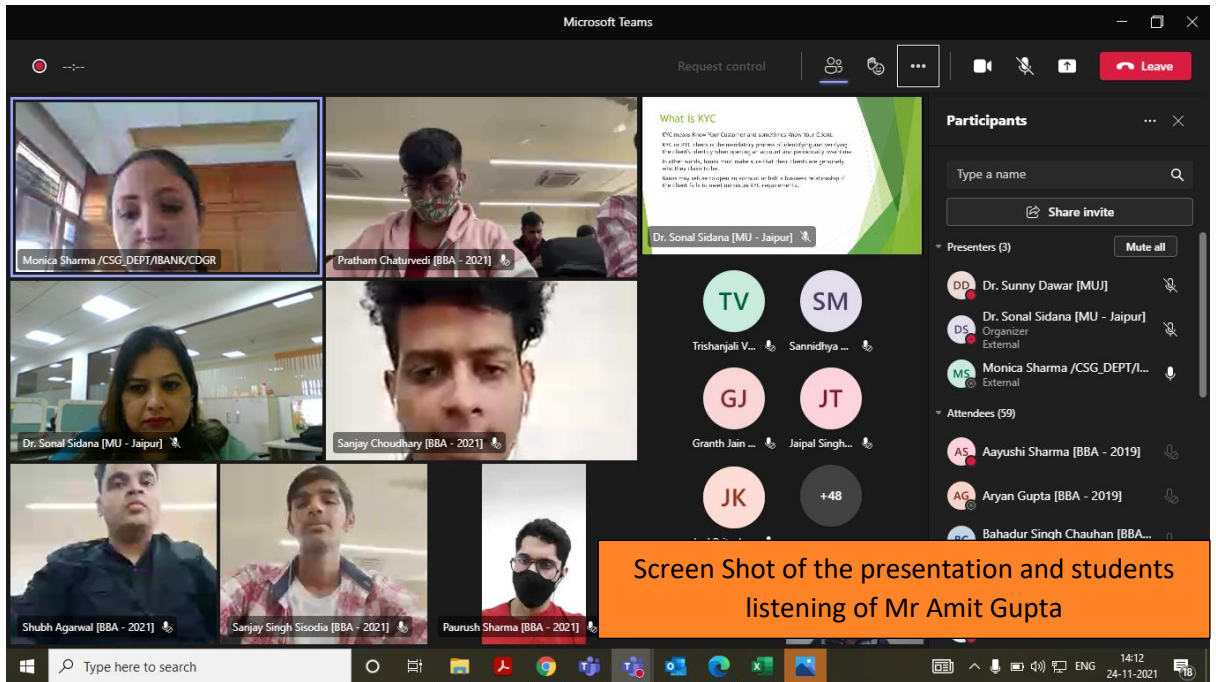

Sh. Amit Gupta, Manager (Business Development) Pearson Education Services Private Limited

5. Brief Description of the event

English-language learners (ELLs) come into our classrooms with a wide variety of specific and unique needs for language acquisition. It's hard to talk about them all as one group -- ELLs represent a diverse range of students in every sense. It's needless to say: Working with ELLs is often challenging and also highly rewarding. Mr Amit Gupta briefed to the students that because there are so many apps and EdTech tools available today, they might expect to find lots of them made specifically for English language development (ELD), bilingual, or dual-immersion classrooms. Unfortunately, this isn't the case: Tools designed specifically for English-language assessment are few and far between (though there are some out there). There are, nevertheless, a lot of great EdTech tools and strategies they can use with their ELLs, even if the tools themselves aren't ELL-specific. So, what's the best way to find and use great digital tools with their assessment in ELLs? A lot will depend on your students' specific needs, but here are a few things to think about when finding the best tools for your classroom.
