In his interactive session, he talked about life and how life will throw many challenges for which one should be prepared and come out as a winner. He discussed how the amalgamation of dream, vision, focus and creativity could make life worth living. For example, he also gave an example of Elon Musk to inspire students and learn from his success and life's story. He emphasised the practice of zooming in and zooming out in life to be more successful. He encouraged students to spend their time wisely and be more productive during their time. He stressed having good habits like making a to-do list to prioritise things and use time judiciously. He also motivated students to be limitless and challenge themselves.
