Industry guest Lecture

25th August 2023

Index

1. Introduction of the Event

Human trafficking, an abhorrent form of modern-day slavery, inflicts severe suffering on vulnerable individuals, particularly children, women, and youth. This talk aims to shed light on the complexities of human trafficking and explore actionable solutions to provide rehabilitation and empowerment to survivors, aligning with Sustainable Development Goal 8, which seeks to promote inclusive and sustainable economic growth and decent work for all

2. Objective of the Event

The talk will delve into the root causes of human trafficking, examining the social, economic, and political factors that contribute to the vulnerability of children, women, and youth. By understanding these complexities, we can develop targeted interventions and policies to prevent trafficking and protect those at risk.

3. Beneficiaries of the Event

The students and faculty of MUJ

4. Details of the Guests

Pallabi Ghosh is an antitrafficking activist, ethnographer, and researcher who fights social evils like human trafficking, gender-based violence, child abuse, labor exploitation, and displacement-related conflicts. She is a Master's degree holder in Gender Studies from RGNIYD, Sriperumbudur, and has worked extensively in the social development sector since 2012.

5. Brief Description of the event

The event created awareness among the students on the evils of human trafficking and the dangers always present. The speaker gave a very comprehensive lecture on all the aspects of human trafficking.
