DEPARTMENT OF FASHION DESIGN

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The four-year degree program in fashion design provides an excellent platform for students to pursue a research and development-based career in the industry, with a strong focus on market-oriented skills. The program aims to cultivate a unique and high-quality individual style in design, promote innovation, develop an understanding of the market and clients, and enhance technical knowledge and skill development. The program's standout feature is its industrial internship opportunities, which enable students to work with renowned designers, brands, design and export houses, and even establish their own businesses.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

- Highly professional and well experienced faculty members
- Specialization options include Textile Design, Sustainable Practices, Luxury Brand Management, and Craft Study & Design
- Advanced laboratories with world-class facilities
- Opportunities to interact with renowned professionals in the industry
- Study opportunities for combined studio work, field work, and research work with leading institutions at national and international levels
- Visual aids, site visits, field work, and industrial training are integral parts of the curriculum
- •Group assignments to promote teamwork and expose students to the working methodologies of a design unit
- •Open forums and group discussions to encourage sharing of viewpoints and being open to feedback from others
- Focus on experiential and peer learning
- Emphasis on hands-on experience to develop practical skills.
