1. Introduction of the Event

A highly motivating and uplifting brief talk by Ar. Riya Lodha was organized for our first year architecture batch. The event was later followed by a question and answer round where students put forward their views and queries since they have very recently stepped into the profession, were curious on how to present in their juries confidently, and the power of drawings to be able to communicate their ideas as a designer.

2. Objective of the Event

- The intent was to help students perform confidently while maximizing their approach on exploration and innovation, rather replicating another architect's work, but only draw purposeful inspirations from around, as they observe.

3. Details of the Guests

- a. Ar. Riya Lodha, practicing architect and alumna of B.Arch, SA&D, MUJ

4. Brief Description of the event

An alum of B.Arch 2014-2019 batch, Riya Lodha discussed with our freshers about the profession on a whole, the challenges and opportunities that it offers to us. She also briefly gave insights on how she was as a student and how she learnt through her own works, mistakes, peers and faculty members. This also helped the students to be able to prepare themselves better for the upcoming juries and for their own development.

She highlighted how architecture, or any design field for that matter is a space where one grows only through exploration in all dimensions and aspects. Her brief talk on February 17th 2022 was highly motivating for all the first year students.
