1. Introduction of the Event

Mendeley is a software which helps us in putting the proper citations in the literature. It can be easily downloaded from its official website using the University login credentials. It can be used to manage and share research papers and generate bibliography for literature. Few of its features are

- Mendeley reader counts, a one-of-a-kind readership measure that has been claimed to forecast the influence of citations.
- Claim authored publications by linking the user's Mendeley Profile to Scopus Author Profile.
- Share and annotate academic papers in private groups while adhering to copyright-compliant responsible sharing norms.

2. Objective of the Event

This workshop was organized to create awareness on the workings of Mendeley, with the following objectives:

- It can be used to create review articles and find related text to a particular type of research papers that we are working on.
- Automatic extraction of metadata from PDF articles.
- Citations and bibliographies in Microsoft Word.

3. Beneficiaries of the Event

Beneficiaries of the event were research scholars, faculty members.
